

A system and method for purifying contaminated water using a hybrid membrane and solar-powered distillation unit

The technology reduces pollutants and microorganisms, providing drinkable water in off-grid areas

Sensors monitor water quality in real time and adjust flow for optimization.